A _____ measures the relative standing of a data item within a data set with respect to all the other data items. Some common types of measures of position are:

A   , or sometimes just box plot for short, is a type of plot that plots the values of

Skewed Right:

Examples