

What is Today's Class?

Today's Class is an automotive technical training program that is designed for secondary schools and technical colleges. It is a self-paced program that delivers fundamental concepts and theory in a convenient, exciting format. Each module presents students new opportunities to interact with the coursework: detailed animations simplify complex automotive processes, while “drag and drop” technology simulates automotive tools and diagnostic procedures. The program enables the student to study at their own pace and